TO LET.

HALF of a large Store, east side of Main street, the best location in the city. Can be let for any kind of business except dry goods. For particulars apply at this office.

SALMON RIVER MINES.—From a letter to the Montana Post, we gather the following news under date of Grantsville, Idaho, December 29th:

Since my last, a new gulch has been discovered by Messrs. Buckhart & Co., who have organized a new district called "Webfoot." The gulch is about three miles long, and prospects twelve cents a pan wherever a hole has been sunk.

We have had a shooting scrape. A man named Winehamer came here in search of a woman whom he claims to be his wife. On his arrival he discovered that his truant wife was living with another man. The parties meeting in McNutt's store, an altercation ensued in which lives were threatened and a pistol discharged, which, however, did no damage except frightening some of the visitors.

On the following morning (24th) while Mr. Winehamer was standing in front of Mr. Mulkey's saloon, in Leesburgh, some enterprising individual who probably thought the town was not complete without a graveyard, fired through a window on the opposite side of the street, the ball passing through Mr. W.'s left arm, struck the butt of his revolver, and glancing off entered his body below the heart, inflicting a painful but it is thought not a fatal wound. He was carried into the saloon where his wounds were dressed. There being no surgeon nearer than Bannack, the ball has not yet been extracted.

A person of the female persuasion, from Helena, made a raid on the windows of Mulkey's saloon last night, demolishing things generally. She seemed well versed in shillelah exercise. Cause, something connected with the shooting affair.

We have good news from Rapp's gulch. Messrs. Pope, Moore & Co. have washed out of fifteen pans $34.20 of as pretty coarse gold as a man need look at, and out of one hundred and sixty pans of dirt taken off the gravel above the bed rock, got $48, making an average of twenty cents per pan: Among the lucky owners of ground in this gulch are J. A. Cook and R. T. Harris & Co.

During the last week gold was discovered in Eureka Hill, above the main creek. The discoverers say it prospects from five to twenty cents through eight feet of gravel.

PROJECTED REFORM.—The Albany correspondent of the New York Citizen says that a bill is about being introduced into the New York Legislature for establishing a "Board of Moral Health" to correct the indecencies of the American stage, and to secure that none but plays of an improving character shall be brought before the ingenuous youth and blushing maidenhood of that most happy and, "hereafter to be, most straight-laced city." He says Ben. Wood is said to approve the project highly. The two plays, or spectacles, that has drawn the attention of the author of the bill to the indecency of the stage are, the "Black Crook" and the "Cendrillon." The writer says it will be argued by the Hon. Mr. Murphy that such spectacular exhibitions of half nudeness and complete lewdness do more to promote public immorality in one single evening than could be accomplished by all the "pretty waiter girl saloons" during a whole year, on the hypothesis that these saloons do not corrupt woman, for the women they employ, in every ninety-nine cases out of every hundred, have been corrupted before descending into such miserable retreats. Nor can they be considered as much increasing the immorality of the rougher and coarser sex, for none but men already far gone in depravity could make it a habit to frequent such places. The two plays alluded to are dramatized from Miss Bradden's two novels, "East Lynn" and "Lady Audley's Secret."

FATAL AFFRAY.—From the Atchison Free Press of the 28th ult., we learn that a fatal affray occurred at Ogden, Riley county. The following are the particulars:

On the 21st inst., about noon, five or six soldiers from Fort Riley, came into town. Part of the company went into a saloon; a sergeant and one man went to a private house—of one Bostwick—and being somewhat under the influence of liquor, made insulting parley and demonstrations towards Mrs. Bostwick, when the City Marshal, (a brother of Mrs. B.) arrived and interfered in an official capacity. By the order of the sergeant the private with him shot the City Marshal through the heart. The other soldiers coming up, one was shot through the neck, dangerously, and one wounded in the knee. The City Marshal—Felix Boler—died in a few moments. An inquest was held on the 22d inst., and five soldiers were delivered over to the Sheriff and lodged in jail at Manhattan. The one shot through the neck is in the hospital at Fort Riley—recovery doubtful. An examination before Esq. Harper has just closed, which resulted in committing the sergeant and two of the men for trial at next term of Court. The others were discharged.

THE WAY TO SETTLE TITLE.—Passengers by the Belmont stage, which arrived at midnight, brought in some particulars of the bloody affray which occurred a few days ago in the vicinity of Pine Creek, on the route hence to Belmont. It appears that two brothers named Steinenger, Germans, were in possession of a ranch, which they were improving in some degree. Other two brothers, named Andrews, laid claim to the same tract of land. On Saturday last the brothers Andrews, appeared on the ground armed with double-barreled shotguns, and ordered an Indian who accompanied them to throw down the fence, erected by the Steinengers. One of the latter was at home, who advanced towards the aggressors armed with a revolver. What conversation occurred between them we have not learned. It is alleged that one of the Andrews leveled his gun at Steinenger, who instantly discharged his pistol at him. The second Andrews immediately shot Steinenger in the back of the neck, inflicting a severe wound. Steinenger then fired at him, wounding him mortally. The Andrews first shot is reported dead; the other brother was hit fatally; Steinenger is said to be in a critical condition.—Reveille, Jan. 8th.

THE WHITE HOUSE.—Last year the gas for the President's House and the Capitol cost $98,000. The fuel for the President's House cost $12,000; the painting of it $6,000; the repairing of the conservatory $12,000, and the re-furnishing of the house $40,000—all of which is calculated to give an impressive idea of the size and appointments of the establishment for which so many candidates are in training.

Salt Lake City, November 5, 1866.

Religious Freedom.

In yesterday's VEDETTE we noticed some of the Whereas-es which constitute at once the bases and arguments of the Legislative Memorial, asking Congress to repeal the Anti-Polygamy law of 1862. In addition to those which go before, the Memorial assumes that that Act was passed in violation of the first amendment of the Constitution, which reads as follows:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

It requires but a very limited knowledge of history, or, indeed, of the meaning of words, to give a fair interpretation of the italicised language above, and refute the inference drawn in the Memorial.

Our revolutionary fathers had seen and felt and appreciated the evils and injustice arising out of a union of Church and State. Laying aside all remembrance of persecutions by the State, through the influence of the Church in times of fanatical excitement and zeal, the fact that in England the whole people, dissenters as well as adherents, were severely taxed to sustain a Church establishment to which they might be opposed, was sufficient to stamp the system as one of injustice. That there might never be in this country, as there was and still is in England, an established Church, drawing its revenues from the State, and enjoying peculiar privileges, the amendment wisely prohibited Congress from making any law respecting "an establishment of religion," thus completely severing all union between Church and State. All history had taught that such union resulted in despotism and corruption. Instead of the Church elevating and exalting the State, the latter demoralized and corrupted the Church. The true spheres of Church and State are separate and distinct; the former, moral, spiritual and eternal; the latter political, temporal and civil. Hence the Constitution provides that Congress shall neither establish, nor favor any particular sect or church. This is the extent of that provision as defined by the best commentators and highest authorities.

How greatly the Mormons violate, not only the spirit, but the letter of this provision, in setting up in Utah, as they have, a perfect theocracy, and the most complete merging of the State in the Church, we need not here advert to. There is no such thing as political manhood or civil government outside of, or independent of the Church. The Church rules the State in all its departments, with a more perfect system of machinery and enginery than in Rome itself. With the forms of republican intitutions, who does not know that its life and spirit and very essence, are annihilated and subjected to the unlimited control of a single man, and that man the head of the Church. It is neither here nor there, that the people submit to the despotism, and are willing it should continue—we are not arguing that question just now. Admit that they forge and willingly wear their own chains, the fact still remains, that the government of Utah is an unlimited, unparalleled theocratic institution, as much so as was Moslem in the palmy days of Mahommed.

But, say our Mormon friends, (and there are a great many of them who believe the Anti-Polygamy law is unconstitutional,) the Constitutional Amendment, above quoted, also debars Congress from passing any law prohibiting the free exercise of religion, and as polygamy is a part of our religion, therefore, Congress cannot interfere with it. We reply that the fallacy of this sort of argument is that it proves too much. If one man, or any set of men, should adopt as a part of their religions creed, the right to "send to —— across lots," or steal their neighbors' horses and cows, would it be seriously contended that Congress could not restrain them by passing laws, as they have done, to punish murder and larceny? Or suppose, again, a colony of Hindoos should migrate to our shores, and by virtue of their religion should give their infants to the flames, or set up a gigantic Juggernaut to crush out the lives of their devotees, could they hope successfully to plead the First Amendment to the Constitution, as recognizing their right thus to worship their God? Yet our Mormon friends are not less ridiculous, and unstable in their foundations than would be the Hindoos referred to. If, however, in the first instance, the fanatic should only believe that it was his right to commit murder or to steal, or the Hindoo to have faith in his Idol Juggernaut, without essaying to put their belief into active practice, neither Congress, nor the law would interfere with that belief. Belief and the worship of God are one thing preserved and guaranteed by the Constitution; crime, or immorality affecting the interests of the State, another.

The same clause of the Constitution prohibits Congress from passing any law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; but has anybody ever dreamed that Congress cannot constitutionally enact laws against libel and slander, spoken or written? Indeed, has not the Utah Legislature and the Common Council of this city, wisely and properly prohibited profane swearing and the taking the name of God in vain, and affixed penalties thereto? Yet, who ever dreamed of objecting that these enactments were in violation of that clause of the Constitution which guarantees "freedom of speech"?

The argument won't hold water. If it would, no crime, no injury to society, could be checked, prevented or restrained, if men could plead successfully that it was a part of their religion. Yet, of such are the arguments with which polygamy is sought to be defended and bolstered up.

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY UNION VEDETTE."]

Washington, January 14.

In the House, this morning, Loan of Missouri took the floor on the impeachment resolution. In his remarks he charged the President with complicity in the assassination of Lincoln, and was called to order by Hale of New York, but the Speaker overruled the point.

The Supreme Court has decided that the provision of the Missouri Constitution requiring a test oath of clergymen is unconstitutional. Also, that the test oath prescribed by Congress is unconstitutional. Justice Field delivered both opinions; Justice Miller delivered dissenting opinions, in which Justices Chase, Swayne and Davis concurred.

House Committee on Banks had under consideration to-day the proposition to substitute legal tender Treasury notes for the present National banking system; they will consider it further at their next meeting. The proposition seems to meet with considerable favor.

There is no foundation for the statement that Government has received information of large quantities of government securities being sent home for sale, on account of apprehended difficulties growing out of the Impeachment movement. The Finance Committees of both Houses give it a flat contradiction.

The Committee on Ways and Means intend to proceed immediately to consider the Tariff bill, but do not expect to be able to report it before two or three weeks.

Cook, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a resolution suspending the payment of $300 to loyal slave owners for slaves used during the war by the Government.

A bill was referred, allowing the franking privilege to members of Congress until December 1st, 1867.

In the Senate, the bill regulating the tenure of office has been under consideration.

Petitions were presented for the passage of the pending Tariff bill; for an increase of the pay of army officers; for reconstruction on the basis of equal rights; against curtailment of the currency, etc.

Lane called up the bill to change the mode of appointing Pension Agents, providing that they hereafter be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Sumner offered an amendment, requiring that all officers and agents of the Government whose salaries or fees exceed $1,000, must be confirmed by the Senate, which was apposed by Lane, who said he would prefer it to be an independent proposition, and it was rejected—yeas, 12; nays, 21.

Washington, January 14.

Associate Justice Field to-day delivered an opinion in the Supreme Court in the Missouri oath case. Jno. Aluminus, the Roman Catholic priest who was indicted for preaching and teaching without taking the oath prescribed by the Constitution of the State, being plaintiff in error. The Court decides that the oath in this case is unconstitutional, being in the nature of punishment without trial and in its character expose facts, and as a bill of attainder, the judgment of the Courts below is reversed, with directions that the plaintiff shall depart without delay. Associate Justice Field also delivered an opinion in the case of Garland and Marr, who took part in the rebellion, now ask to be readmitted to practice. The Court held that as the statute imposes punishment, which may not have been imposed at the time the offense was committed, is in its nature ex post facto law. Attorneys are not officers of the United States; they are officers of the Courts, and hold their offices during good behavior; the Court is not the register of the edict of any power. The applicants obtained pardon from the President, which relieves them from the consequences of their offense and makes them citizens in the eye of the law, what they were before its committal. Congress cannot limit prerogative of mercy; it cannot be altered by legislative construction; it followed that the prayer of the petitioners must be granted, and also the prayer of Mr. Marrul, which requires attorneys to take the test oath, must be rescinded. Associate Justice Miller, for himself and Chief Justice and Associates Wayne and Davis, read dissenting opinion, maintaining that practice in Courts is a privilege, and attorneys are subject to legislation the same as judges, the law making no distinction, but requires all civil and military officers to take the same oath. Attorneys exert a marked influence on the character of our Government. If all the attorneys in the South had been faithful to their allegiance and required to swear, we should have been spared the horrors of rebellion. It was not claimed by a majority of the Court that law works an attainder of blood; therefore, this is not attainder, nor does it appear that any indicated persons or punishment of persons who arrayed themselves in hostility to the Government and gave aid and comfort to the enemy, forfeited their right to appear in Court. This was not a criminal but a civil proceeding, which affected private rights, retrospectively. With regard to the Missouri case, the questions involved rested with the State. The constitutional restriction, that Congress shall make no law abridging freemen of religion, was not applicable. Justice Story says the whole power was left to the State, to be exercised according to its judgment. The Constitution of Missouri says no such person as described shall exercise their functions, unless they show their loyalty. Speeches were quoted in support of these points.

Senate—A bill to regulate tenure of office came up. Hendricks' amendment to strike out the provision that "no vacancies can be filled except with the advice and consent of the Senate, and the duties of such offices be officered without salaries or fees, to such officer as may by law exercise such powers," was debated by Hendricks, Cowan, Williams and Frelinghuysen. Sherman said the bill contemplated nothing unconstitutional or revolutionary. Of the 2,000 removals made by the President last summer, not 100 have been reported to the Senate.

At Mr. Buckalew's suggestion, Mr. Hendricks withdrew the amendment to let the debate proceed on the general merits of the bill.

Mr. Howe moved to strike out the words "expiration of term or other cause" of the third section, which reads as follows: "That the President shall have power to fill all vacancies which may happen during the recess of the Senate by reason of death, resignation, expiration of term, or other lawful cause, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next session thereafter." The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Williams spoke generally in favor of the bill. Executive session adjourned.

Washington, January 14.

Additional House: Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, asked leave to offer a resolution against any greater curtailment of the National circulation than four millions per month during 1867, and that for the compound interest notes authorized to be withdrawn in excess, that an amount of legal tender notes without interest ought to be substituted. The House refused to suspend the rules—yeas, 74; nays, 68. So the resolution was not received.

Mr. Hooper moved for a suspension of the rules to allow the introduction of a resolution that it is not expedient to increase the amount of National bonds and notes for circulation beyond the $300,000,000 authorized by law. House refused to suspend rules.

Mr. Cook, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a joint resolution for suspending the operation of the twenty-fourth section of the Act of the 24th of February, 1864, which authorizes the payment of loyal owners of colored volunteers. It passed 107 against 35.

Mr. Banks offered a resolution that it is the duty of the Government to give effect to the moral sentiment of the nation through all its agencies for the purpose of preventing a further introduction of coolies into this hemisphere. Adopted unanimously.

The bill for the admission of Nebraska was taken up, and the question of impartial suffrage was debated at length. The House seconded the previous question by a vote of 68 to 67; but neither coming to a vote. Adjourned.

New York, January 15.

The Herald's Richmond special says General Risser and Henry A. Wise addressed the citizens of Richmond last evening on the subject of the relief of the widows of Confederate soldiers. Both expressed the opinion that the rebellion had still a fair prospect of success. Wise said he would never give up, and the South was sublimely unconquered. He particularly desired to be buried in a gray overcoat, when his time should come.

Forty armed and mounted men deserted last week from Fort Morgan, and are reported on the way to Denver, to rob the city banks and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express.

New York, January 15.

A St. Louis special says it is reported that Governor Fletcher has again stationed a company of militia in Lafayette county, to the displeasure of the Conservatives.

The Iron Mountain Railroad has been sold for $375,000.

Mr. Trumbull was yesterday renominated United States Senator by the Republican caucus of the Illinois Legislature.

A proposition has been introduced into the House to enfranchise all male citizens of lawful age who have resided one year in the State preceding any election.

A Madison, Wis., special says resolutions will be introduced in the Legislature soon, condemning the course of Senator Doolittle, and positively instructing him to resign.

Chicago, January 15.

Senators will be to-day elected, viz.: New York, Roscoe Conklin; Pennsylvania, Simon Cameron; Maryland, Thos. Swain; Indiana, Oliver P. Morton; Illinois, Lyman Trumbull.

A Washington special says it is doubtful if the Nebraska and Colorado bills will pass the House. The bill was yesterday under consideration for two hours, during which time Ashley, Broomall, Stevens, Bingham, Wilson, Shellaberger, Lawes, Bline, Briggs, Hill, Morrill, Elliot and Banks took part in the discussion. All the speeches, except Broomall's, were very brief, Ashley controlling the floor and yielding it to various gentlemen for five or ten minutes each. The House was in much confusion all the while, members crowding down into the aisles and alley near Ashley, and talking among themselves in such an earnest manner that the Speaker was obliged on three or four occasions to suspend business and direct gentlemen to take their seats. The debate chiefly turned on Edmunds' amendment. Two or three members expressed themselves opposed to admitting Nebraska at all with her present population, but most of the speakers were willing to let her in, if they could be sure that the amendment would accomplish the purpose desired by its supporters. The discussion was of a legal character, and showed a wide difference of opinion among the leading lawyers on the Republican side, relative to the binding effect of the clause. Wilson, Stevens, Dawes and others, held that it could not be enforced anywhere. Shellaberger and others took ground that it could be enforced in the courts. Banks believed it could be enforced, not only by courts, but by Congress. The speech of Shellaberger was perhaps the most noticeable delivered. He had the floor for twelve minutes, and while he spoke nearly all the leading members gathered in the seats and aisle in his immediate neighborhood. The Previous question was called by Ashley at half past four, and the demand was seconded by one majority, the vote being yeas 68, nays 67.

The negative vote was about equally divided between Democrats and Republicans. It was taken by tellers, and therefore names cannot be given. The highest vote taken during the day was one hundred and forty-three, at least eight members being absent. When the previous question was seconded the vote was so close that the friends of the bill did not think it safe to ask its adoption, and they therefore consented to an adjournment.

The Government directors of the Union Pacific Railroad—Messrs. George Ashmun, of Massachusetts; Jesse L. Williams, of Indiana; Chas. L. Sherman, of Ohio; T. J. Carter, of Illinois, and Springer Harbaugh, of Pennsylvania—were in session several days last week. They had a number of interviews with the Secretary of the Interior, and with the President, and made report of the condition and progress of the work during the past season, and the probable operations in the present year. It appears that there are 305 miles of the road finished and in operation, and that it is sufficiently stocked with locomotives, passenger and freight cars, and amply supplied with machine shops, depots and water stations. The present terminus of the road is at a point a few miles west of the forks of the great Platte River. The line is definitely located up Lodge Pole Creek to the foot of the Black Hill, then through Evans' Pass to Laramie, a further distance of near 300 miles, which it is contemplated to build during the present year. This main line will pass about 100 miles north of Denver, which place the Company propose to reach by a branch road.

The Daily Union Vedette

Local and Miscellaneous.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The VEDETTE is the pioneer ily newspaper of Utah. Its extensive circulation in ery mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho, which it gives the telegraphic despatches a whole ek ahead of the Pacific papers,) makes it the most vantageous medium for advertising in these four ntral Territories.

VERDANT.—A vendor of clocks in this city lated to us an amusing incident which occurred a few days since at the store of the lock. A person entered and inquired for an alarm" clock; one was shown him, but the ices seemed to overtop his pile, and he desired to know whether he could purchase the alarm" without the clock. The vendor was somewhat "alarmed" at the inquiry, but recovering from the shock occasioned by such n unique question, explained to his customer hat it was necessary for the other parts of he clock to accompany the alarm movements order to set the time for the alarm to strike. That being explained, another difficulty exsted in the mind of the verdant youth, and e then said that he was disposed to purchase n "alarm" clock that would not disturb the ther members of the family, but awaken only imself. The astute vendor then recommended the only remedy he knew of, which was hat he should stop the ears of the rest of the amily with cotton, and then the would-be urchaser might attain his object. The verant youth scratched his head, and left, sayg he would call again, and would then know hat he did want.

COURTESY.—We have made it an invariable le when by mistake a duplicate copy of a ge of telegraphic report comes into our possession, to immediately return it to the "elec-"-telegraph office, in order to avoid the inonvenience that may accrue from a missing ge. We had occasion to do so on Monday t, but the favor was not reciprocated by a emporary, who retained a duplicate page, ich they must have known belonged to aner office. Had it not been for the kind obliging clerks in the "electro"-telegraph ce, our readers would have been deprived a portion of the latest eastern news. We pe the same neglect of courtesy will not ur again.

LUNCH.—At the Bank Exchange to-day, tween the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, a nch will be served up for the accommodan of the patrons of the establishment. This introducing in this city an old custom obved in our Eastern and Western cities, but our mind, it is a custom "more honored in e breach than the observance."

After various wanders the Doctor has turned up in Utah, and now admitted to the privileged circle of the and Mormon Prophet, President Brigham ung. In a letter from the promised land, writes under date of Nov. 22d, as follows ut Brigham Young's last wife, and of Salt e City. We judge from the tone of the ctor's letter, that he intends to join the rmon Church, and hopes to become a rul- Elder in the communion of the Latter Saints, with a numerous complement of es:

I saw the President's last wife at the ernacle on Sunday last. The lady's name marriage was Maria Folsom. Her former dence was at Council Bluffs, Iowa. Like all passionand jealous women she is noble hearted. s Folsom is Brigham's last wife and pet. Two of the President's daughters play at theatre, and are great favorites with the tile portion of the community. One is ried, Mrs. Clawson, and the other, Miss e, is single, but is being waited on by a inguished editor. Ah! you ought to be here—the Mormons are just the best peoin the world. Salt Lake City, November 5, 1866.

Religious Freedom.

In yesterday's VEDETTE we noticed some of the Whereas-es which constitute at once the bases and arguments of the Legislative Memorial, asking Congress to repeal the Anti-Polygamy law of 1862. In addition to those which go before, the Memorial assumes that that Act was passed in violation of the first amendment of the Constitution, which reads as follows:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

It requires but a very limited knowledge of history, or, indeed, of the meaning of words, to give a fair interpretation of the italicised language above, and refute the inference drawn in the Memorial.

Our revolutionary fathers had seen and felt and appreciated the evils and injustice arising out of a union of Church and State. Laying aside all remembrance of persecutions by the State, through the influence of the Church in times of fanatical excitement and zeal, the fact that in England the whole people, dissenters as well as adherents, were severely taxed to sustain a Church establishment to which they might be opposed, was sufficient to stamp the system as one of injustice. That there might never be in this country, as there was and still is in England, an established Church, drawing its revenues from the State, and enjoying peculiar privileges, the amendment wisely prohibited Congress from making any law respecting "an establishment of religion," thus completely severing all union between Church and State. All history had taught that such union resulted in despotism and corruption. Instead of the Church elevating and exalting the State, the latter demoralized and corrupted the Church. The true spheres of Church and State are separate and distinct; the former, moral, spiritual and eternal; the latter political, temporal and civil. Hence the Constitution provides that Congress shall neither establish, nor favor any particular sect or church. This is the extent of that provision as defined by the best commentators and highest authorities.

How greatly the Mormons violate, not only the spirit, but the letter of this provision, in setting up in Utah, as they have, a perfect theocracy, and the most complete merging of the State in the Church, we need not here advert to. There is no such thing as political manhood or civil government outside of, or independent of the Church. The Church rules the State in all its departments, with a more perfect system of machinery and enginery than in Rome itself. With the forms of republican intitutions, who does not know that its life and spirit and very essence, are annihilated and subjected to the unlimited control of a single man, and that man the head of the Church. It is neither here nor there, that the people submit to the despotism, and are willing it should continue—we are not arguing that question just now. Admit that they forge and willingly wear their own chains, the fact still remains, that the government of Utah is an unlimited, unparalleled theocratic institution, as much so as was Moslem in the palmy days of Mahommed.

But, say our Mormon friends, (and there are a great many of them who believe the Anti-Polygamy law is unconstitutional,) the Constitutional Amendment, above quoted, also debars Congress from passing any law prohibiting the free exercise of religion, and as polygamy is a part of our religion, therefore, Congress cannot interfere with it. We reply that the fallacy of this sort of argument is that it proves too much. If one man, or any set of men, should adopt as a part of their religious creed, the right to "send to —— across lots," or steal their neighbors' horses and cows, would it be seriously contended that Congress could not restrain them by passing laws, as they have done, to punish murder and larceny? Or suppose, again, a colony of Hindoos should emigrate to our shores, and by virtue of their religion should give their infants to the flames, or set up a gigantic Juggernaut to crush out the lives of their devotees, could they hope successfully to plead the First Amendment to the Constitution, as recognizing their right thus to worship their God? Yet our Mormon friends are not less ridiculous, and unstable in their foundations, than would be the Hindoos referred to. If, however, in the first instance, the fanatic should only believe that it was his right to commit murder or to steal, or the Hindoo to have faith in his Idol Juggernaut, without essaying to put their belief into active practice, neither Congress, nor the law would interfere with that belief. Belief and the worship of God are one thing preserved and guaranteed by the Constitution; crime, or immorality affecting the interests of the State, another.

The same clause of the Constitution prohibits Congress from passing any law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; but has anybody ever dreamed that Congress cannot constitutionally enact laws against libel and slander, spoken or written? Indeed, has not the Utah Legislature and the Common Council of this city wisely and properly prohibited profane swearing, and the taking the name of God in vain, and affixed penalties thereto? Yet, who ever dreamed of objecting that these enactments were in violation of that clause of the Constitution which guarantees "freedom of speech"?

The argument won't hold water. If it would, no crime, no injury to society, could be checked, prevented or restrained, if men could plead successfully that it was a part of their religion. Yet, of such are the arguments with which polygamy is sought to be defended and bolstered up.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY UNION VEDETTE."]

Washington, January 14.

In the House, this morning, Loan of Missouri took the floor on the impeachment resolution. In his remarks he charged the President with complicity in the assassination of Lincoln, and was called to order by Hale of New York, but the Speaker overruled the point.

The Supreme Court has decided that the provision of the Missouri Constitution requiring a test oath of clergymen is unconstitutional. Also, that the test oath prescribed by Congress is unconstitutional. Justice Field delivered both opinions; Justice Miller delivered dissenting opinions, in which Justices Chase, Swayne and Davis concurred.

House Committee on Banks had under consideration to-day the proposition to substitute legal tender Treasury notes for the present National banking system; they will consider it further at their next meeting. The proposition seems to meet with considerable favor.

There is no foundation for the statement that Government has received information of large quantities of government securities being sent home for sale, on account of apprehended difficulties growing out of the Impeachment movement. The Finance Committees of both Houses give it a flat contradiction.

The Committee on Ways and Means intend to proceed immediately to consider the Tariff bill, but do not expect to be able to report it before two or three weeks.

The President sent in a batch of nominations to the Senate, among them Senator Cowan for Minister to Austria, vice Motely, removed.

A bill was referred, allowing the franking privilege to members of Congress until December 1st, 1867.

Washington, January 14.

In the Senate, the bill regulating the tenure of office has been under consideration.

Petitions were presented for the passage of the pending Tariff bill; for an increase of the pay of army officers; for reconstruction on the basis of equal rights; against curtailment of the currency, etc.

Lane called up the bill to change the mode of appointing Pension Agents, providing that they hereafter be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Sumner offered an amendment, requiring that all officers and agents of the Government whose salaries or fees exceed $1,000, must be confirmed by the Senate, which was apposed by Lane, who said he would prefer it to be an independent proposition, and it was rejected—yeas, 12; nays, 21.

Washington, January 14.

Associate Justice Field to-day delivered an opinion in the Supreme Court in the Missouri oath case. Jno. Aluminus, the Roman Catholic priest who was indicted for preaching and teaching without taking the oath prescribed by the Constitution of the State, being plaintiff in error. The Court decides that the oath in this case is unconstitutional, being in the nature of punishment without trial and in its character expose facts, and as a bill of attainder, the judgment of the Courts below is reversed, with directions that the plaintiff shall depart without delay. Associate Justice Field also delivered an opinion in the case of Garland and Marr, who took part in the rebellion, now ask to be readmitted to practice. The Court held that as the statute imposes punishment, which may not have been imposed at the time the offense was committed, it is in its nature ex post facto law. Attorneys are not officers of the United States; they are officers of the Courts, and hold their offices during good behavior; the Court is not the register of the edict of any power. The applicants obtained pardon from the President, which relieves them from the consequences of their offense and makes them citizens in the eye of the law, what they were before its commission. Congress cannot limit prerogative of mercy; it cannot be altered by legislative construction. It followed that the prayer of the petitioners must be granted, and also the prayer of Mr. Marrul, which requires attorneys to take the test oath, must be rescinded. Associate Justice Miller, for himself and Chief Justice and Associates Wayne and Davis, read dissenting opinion, maintaining that practice in Courts is a privilege, and attorneys are subject to legislation the same as judges, the law making no distinction, but requires all civil and military officers to take the same oath. Attorneys exert a marked influence on the character of our Government. If all the attorneys in the South had been faithful to their allegiance and required to swear, we should have been spared the horrors of rebellion. It was not claimed by a majority of the Court that law works an attainder of blood; therefore, this is not attainder, nor does it appear that any indicated persons or punishment of persons who arrayed themselves in hostility to the Government and gave aid and comfort to the enemy, forfeited their right to appear in Court. This was not a criminal but a civil proceeding, which affected private rights, retrospectively. With regard to the Missouri case, the questions involved rested with the State. The constitutional restriction, that Congress shall make no law abridging freemen of religion, was not applicable. Justice Story says the whole power was left to the State, to be exercised according to its judgment. The Constitution of Missouri says no such person as described shall exercise their functions, unless they show their loyalty. Speeches were quoted in support of these points.

Senate—A bill to regulate tenure of office came up. Hendricks' amendment to strike out the provision that "no vacancies can be filled except with the advice and consent of the Senate, and the duties of such offices be officered without salaries or fees, to such officer as may by law exercise such powers," was debated by Hendricks, Cowan, Williams and Frelinghuysen. Sherman said the bill contemplated nothing unconstitutional or revolutionary. Of the 2,000 removals made by the President last summer, not 100 have been reported to the Senate.

At Mr. Buckalew's suggestion, Mr. Hendricks withdrew the amendment to let the debate proceed on the general merits of the bill.

Mr. Howe moved to strike out the words "expiration of term or other cause" of the third section, which reads as follows: "That the President shall have power to fill all vacancies which may happen during the recess of the Senate by reason of death, resignation, expiration of term, or other lawful cause, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next session thereafter." The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Williams spoke generally in favor of the bill. Executive session adjourned.

Washington, January 14.

Additional House: Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, asked leave to offer a resolution against any greater curtailment of the National circulation than four millions per month during 1867, and that for the compound interest notes authorized to be withdrawn in excess, that an amount of legal tender notes without interest ought to be substituted. The House refused to suspend the rules—yeas, 74; nays, 68. So the resolution was not received.

Mr. Hooper moved for a suspension of the rules to allow the introduction of a resolution that it is not expedient to increase the amount of National bonds and notes for circulation beyond the $300,000,000 authorized by law. House refused to suspend rules.

Mr. Cook, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a joint resolution for suspending the operation of the twenty-fourth section of the Act of the 24th of February, 1864, which authorizes the payment of loyal owners of colored volunteers. It passed 107 against 35.

Mr. Banks offered a resolution that it is the duty of the Government to give effect to the moral sentiment of the nation through all its agencies for the purpose of preventing a further introduction of coolies into this hemisphere. Adopted unanimously.

The bill for the admission of Nebraska was taken up, and the question of impartial suffrage was debated at length. The House seconded the previous question by a vote of 68 to 67; but neither coming to a vote. Adjourned.

New York, January 15.

The Herald's Richmond special says General Risser and Henry A. Wise addressed the citizens of Richmond last evening on the subject of the relief of the widows of Confederate soldiers. Both expressed the opinion that the rebellion had still a fair prospect of success. Wise said he would never give up, and the South was sublimely unconquered. He particularly desired to be buried in a gray overcoat, when his time should come.

New York, January 15.

The Commissioners of Pilots have forbidden the participation of any pilots of this harbor in the proposed race across the Atlantic between pilot boats; therefore, the match between J. D. Jones and Mr. Hope for $50,000 has been abandoned.

Denver City, January 15.

The Legislature have adjourned to Friday.

The resolution against making Colorado a State passed the House in the absence of several members, who were sick, after having previously been vetoed down.

The Council passed a resolution, asking the President to remove Governor Cummings, and charged him with malfeasence in office.

The negroes are rejoicing over the action of Congress for granting impartial suffrage. Two hundred signed the petition, favoring the admission under Mr. Edmunds' amendment.

Forty armed and mounted men deserted last week from Fort Morgan, and are reported on the way to Denver, to rob the city banks and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express.

New York, January 15.

The Herald's Toronto special says: In the Court yesterday, Thomas Maxwell and James Burke, Fenians, were found guilty of levying war against Her Majesty's Government. Patrick Norton plead guilty to a similar indictment. Sentence in all cases deferred.

General Mitchell has received word that the Confederation would be sanctioned if the people indorsed it, and he was anxious to submit the bill to them.

A petition has been forwarded, asking the disbandment of the society of St. Patrick, on the grounds of its Fenian tendencies.

New York, January 15.

A New Orleans dispatch says advices received direct from Vera Cruz, give conflicting accounts regarding the Emperor, one saying that he had abdicated, and another that he would do so in twenty days.

The last of the French troops were expected at the Capital daily, preparatory to a general embarkation.

The Liberal forces were following closely in the wake of the retiring enemy.

Bazaine was to leave on the 28th.

The idea of holding a National Congress is not agreeable to the Liberals, and it has been given up.

An Austrian frigate was awaiting Maximilian at Vera Cruz.

All the abandoned cities were being occupied by the Liberals.

Lynchburg, Va., January 14.

A train on the Virginia and Tennessee Railroad was precipitated down an embankment on Sunday night by which eleven passengers were wounded.

New York, January 15.

A Nashville special says the Legislature will undoubtedly pass a law extending suffrage to freedmen.

A St. Louis special says it is reported that Governor Fletcher has again stationed a company of militia in Lafayette county, to the displeasure of the Conservatives.

The Iron Mountain Railroad has been sold for $375,000.

Mr. Trumbull was yesterday renominated United States Senator by the Republican caucus of the Illinois Legislature.

A proposition has been introduced into the House to enfranchise all male citizens of lawful age who have resided one year in the State preceding any election.

A Madison, Wis., special says resolutions will be introduced in the Legislature soon, condemning the course of Senator Doolittle, and positively instructing him to resign.

Chicago, January 15.

Senators will be to-day elected, viz.: New York, Roscoe Conklin; Pennsylvania, Simon Cameron; Maryland, Thos. Swain; Indiana, Oliver P. Morton; Illinois, Lyman Trumbull.

A Washington special says it is doubtful if the Nebraska and Colorado bills will pass the House. The bill was yesterday under consideration for two hours, during which time Ashley, Broomall, Stevens, Bingham, Wilson, Shellaberger, Lawes, Bline, Briggs, Hill, Morrill, Elliot and Banks took part in the discussion. All the speeches, except Broomall's, were very brief, Ashley controlling the floor and yielding it to various gentlemen for five or ten minutes each. The House was in much confusion all the while, members crowding down into the aisles and alley near Ashley, and talking among themselves in such an earnest manner that the Speaker was obliged on three or four occasions to suspend business and direct gentlemen to take their seats. The debate chiefly turned on Edmunds' amendment. Two or three members expressed themselves opposed to admitting Nebraska at all with her present population, but most of the speakers were willing to let her in, if they could be sure that the amendment would accomplish the purpose desired by its supporters. The discussion was of a legal character, and showed a wide difference of opinion among the leading lawyers on the Republican side, relative to the binding effect of the clause. Wilson, Stevens, Dawes and others, held that it could not be enforced anywhere. Shellaberger and others took ground that it could be enforced in the courts. Banks believed it could be enforced, not only by courts, but by Congress. The speech of Shellaberger was perhaps the most noticeable delivered. He had the floor for twelve minutes, and while he spoke nearly all the leading members gathered in the seats and aisle in his immediate neighborhood. The Previous question was called by Ashley at half past four, and the demand was seconded by one majority, the vote being yeas 68, nays 67.

The negative vote was about equally divided between Democrats and Republicans. It was taken by tellers, and therefore names cannot be given. The highest vote taken during the day was one hundred and forty-three, at least eight members being absent. When the previous question was seconded the vote was so close that the friends of the bill did not think it safe to ask its adoption, and they therefore consented to an adjournment.

The Government directors of the Union Pacific Railroad—Messrs. George Ashmun, of Massachusetts; Jesse L. Williams, of Indiana; Chas. L. Sherman, of Ohio; T. J. Carter, of Illinois, and Springer Harbaugh, of Pennsylvania—were in session several days last week. They had a number of interviews with the Secretary of the Interior, and with the President, and made report of the condition and progress of the work during the past season, and the probable operations in the present year. It appears that there are 305 miles of the road finished and in operation, and that it is sufficiently stocked with locomotives, passenger and freight cars, and amply supplied with machine shops, depots and water stations. The present terminus of the road is at a point a few miles west of the forks of the great Platte River. The line is definitely located up Lodge Pole Creek to the foot of the Black Hill, then through Evans' Pass to Laramie, a further distance of near 300 miles, which it is contemplated to build during the present year. This main line will pass about 100 miles north of Denver, which place the Company propose to reach by a branch road.

The Daily Union Vedette

Local and Miscellaneous.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The VEDETTE is the pioneer daily newspaper of Utah. Its extensive circulation in every mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho, to which it gives the telegraphic despatches a whole week ahead of the Pacific papers,) makes it the most advantageous medium for advertising in these four central Territories.

VERDANT.—A vendor of clocks in this city related to us an amusing incident which occurred a few days since at the store of the clock. A person entered and inquired for an "alarm" clock; one was shown him, but the price seemed to overtop his pile, and he desired to know whether he could purchase the "alarm" without the clock. The vendor was somewhat "alarmed" at the inquiry, but recovering from the shock occasioned by such an unique question, explained to his customer that it was necessary for the other parts of the clock to accompany the alarm movements in order to set the time for the alarm to strike. That being explained, another difficulty existed in the mind of the verdant youth, and he then said that he was disposed to purchase an "alarm" clock that would not disturb the other members of the family, but awaken only himself. The astute vendor then recommended the only remedy he knew of, which was that he should stop the ears of the rest of the family with cotton, and then the would-be purchaser might attain his object. The verdant youth scratched his head, and left, saying he would call again, and would then know what he did want.

COURTESY.—We have made it an invariable rule when by mistake a duplicate copy of a page of telegraphic report comes into our possession, to immediately return it to the "electro"-telegraph office, in order to avoid the inconvenience that may accrue from a missing page. We had occasion to do so on Monday last, but the favor was not reciprocated by a cotemporary, who retained a duplicate page, which they must have known belonged to another office. Had it not been for the kind and obliging clerks in the "electro"-telegraph office, our readers would have been deprived of a portion of the latest eastern news. We hope the same neglect of courtesy will not occur again.

OFF FOR MONTANA.—Mr. Bohm, of the firm of Bohm & Molitor, leaves to-day for the purpose of establishing a branch office of the Assaying business of that firm in Helena. We commend him to our neighbors as a gentleman who possesses the entire confidence of this community, where he has been located for some time, for his strict integrity, joined with his scientific and business qualifications, which are so absolutely necessary for a faithful discharge of the duties of an assayer.

LUNCH.—At the Bank Exchange to-day, between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, a lunch will be served up for the accommodation of the patrons of the establishment. This is introducing in this city an old custom observed in our Eastern and Western cities, but in our mind, it is a custom "more honored in the breach than the observance."

WANTED.—Cash paid for old door and padlock keys, etc., at J. R. Sumner's second hand store. 4t

Brigham Young's Last Wife.

In the Milwaukie Wisconsin, of December 27th, we find the following:

Doctor Adonis (?) is well known to many citizens of Milwaukie, and we may add throughout the State. After various wanderings the Doctor has turned up in Utah, and is now admitted to the privileged circle of the Grand Mormon Prophet, President Brigham Young. In a letter from the promised land, he writes under date of Nov. 22d, as follows about Brigham Young's last wife, and of Salt Lake City. We judge from the tone of the Doctor's letter, that he intends to join the Mormon Church, and hopes to become a ruling Elder in the communion of the Latter Day Saints, with a numerous complement of wives:

"I saw the President's last wife at the Tabernacle on Sunday last. The lady's name ere marriage was Maria Folsom. Her former residence was at Council Bluffs, Iowa. She is an imperious looking young beauty of the Grecian rather than the Roman order, and is very imperious and jealous. Like all passionate and jealous women she is noble hearted. Miss Folsom is Brigham's last wife and pet.

"Two of the President's daughters play at the theatre, and are great favorites with the Gentile portion of the community. One is married, Mrs. Clawson, and the other, Miss Jane, is single, but is being waited on by a distinguished editor. Ah! you ought to be out here—the Mormons are just the best people in the world. I have not learned the exact number of wives and children President Young has, but altogether he has the largest family of any man living in the civilized world to-day.

"I have received every courtesy since my arrival from all parties, especially from the gentlemen of the Mormon Press."

COLORADO MINES.—The Denver Gazette of January 6th, says: From Charley Geon, who has just arrived from Ward District, we gather the following particulars of matters in that section. There was about two feet of snow on the ground, with the weather cold and stormy. Nearly four hundred persons are in the district, and men constantly arriving. The Ni-Wot Company are making preparations to rebuild their mill and have paid off their road hands. Cushman & Co.'s ten stamp custom mill is running night and day, and the ore put through gives a rich average. The Long's Peak Compans are re-furnishing their mill. Crosby & Thompson are running their mill day and night on Stoughton ore with good results. Several companies are sinking on their lodes. Bixby is doing well with the old six stamp mill on Sucker ore. Ten thousand dollars cash has been offered and refused for claim No. 2, on the Columbia. Another very promising lode has been struck by a Mr. McMinn.

IDAHO ITEMS.—The Indians in the Owyhee and Boise country still continue their depredations upon stock, and fights with Indians are reported in every paper from that section.

The division of Idaho has again been brought up in the Legislature of Idaho. The division of Washington Territory is also being discussed at Olympia, the object of which is to unite the counties along the Sound to Oregon, and the counties east of the mountain ranges of both States to form one State.

Owyhee papers say that this has been the mildest winter ever experienced in that section of country. The snow is only a few inches deep and thawing.

A PARDONING GOVERNOR.—Governor Low, of California, seems to have a mania for pardoning the convicts of San Quentin. The California papers contain frequent accounts of the Governor's leniency. The last batch, published in the Sacramento [illegible] of the 7th inst., numbers nineteen, who were sentenced for various crimes, to serve from one to seven years. A portion of them are returned to the right of citizenship.
